INVESTMENT THESIS

Gini aims to replace frequent, expensive SMB workflows by providing an AI coworker that operates within team collaboration tools like Slack and Teams, offering immediate value through automation and knowledge management [1].

TEAM	PRODUCT
The team consists of experienced founders with backgrounds at Tesla, Intel, Flatiron Health, Roche, Certik, HPE, and Vestible. They have relevant technical and product experience, which suggests strong execution capabilities [2].	Gini is an AI coworker that integrates with Slack and Teams, automating tasks and maintaining an up-to-date company wiki. It offers a free trial and tiered pricing based on usage credits, indicating a focus on value-based pricing [1][3].
MARKET	WHY NOW
The market for AI-driven workflow automation in SMBs is substantial, though specific ICP and market size data are not disclosed. Gini's integration with popular collaboration tools suggests a clear route to customers [1][6].	The increasing adoption of collaboration tools like Slack and Teams, coupled with the rising demand for automation in SMBs, creates a timely opportunity for Gini to offer its AI coworker solution [1].
